IV. COURSE REQUIREMENTS

A. Reading Assignments

Aside from reading required to research the chosen topic, no reading is required for the course. It is highly recommended that the student review Turabian for proper form. At a minimum, review the following for proper Turabian style:

- Turabian Chapters 7 and 16-18.
- DTS Supplement to Turabian.

Additionally, the following book will help greatly in narrowing your topic and forming a thesis:

- Kibbe, Michael. From Topic to Thesis: A Guide to Theological Research. Downers Grove, IL: IVP Academic, 2016.

B. Written Assignment

Research Paper Assignment

The research paper should be 15 to 20 pages in length, not including the title page and bibliography and must be carefully researched, well-written, and conform to DTS Turabian style requirements. You will have 1 faculty reader for your paper. A faculty reader should be selected based on the topic chosen. It is the student's responsibility to arrange for a reader.

Please have two professors as potential readers in case the first is unavailable. It is recommended that the student make this arrangement early in the semester since faculty are limited in the number of papers they are able to read. The student must meet (either in person or via electronic means) with the faculty reader during the semester to discuss the paper topic, argument, and outline. The final paper will be submitted in Canvas.

NOTE: Faculty reader will submit ONLY the FINAL GRADE to Billy Todd.

C. Quizzes and/or Exams

There are no quizzes or exams for this course.

C. Class Participation

This is an individual research project. Class participation is not a factor in the course.

D. Late Assignments

Assignments are due according to the assignment schedule. Late assignments will not be accepted except in the case of an emergency or unless prior arrangements have been made with the professor. Please notify the professor as soon as you realize there may be a problem in completing an assignment on time. No assignment can be reworked and submitted for a higher grade.

Please note that no coursework will be accepted after the last day of the term unless the student has a formal extension approved by the Credits Committee in accordance with the DTS Student Handbook, section 1.20.

E. Absences

This is an individual research project. Class attendance is not a factor in the course.

VI. COURSE SUPPLEMENTAL INFORMATION

A. Communication Competency Criteria

The faculty has established criteria for measuring desired student competency in the area of communication as reflected in the chart below. In light of this, we have set forth specific competencies that the student should develop and demonstrate as a result of completing RS103. This course helps the student develop and demonstrate proficiency in written communication competency at Level 1 (correct form), Level 2 (using computer tools to prepare for writing an evaluative essay on a topic), Level 3 (appropriate research and documentation), Level 4 (exegesis and theological reflection), and Level 5 (summative research paper).

Communication	The student is able to persuade others effectively with respect to biblical and theological truth through oral, written, and electronic media.
Level 5—to be attained by all Th.M. students before graduating.	The student is able to write an acceptable summative research thesis or paper (RS103) and preach a sermon that is audience-focused in its structure, proofs, and application, with a delivery (voice and body) that is natural for the speaker.
Level 4	The student is able to write a paper that reflects sound exegesis and theological reflection and preach a sermon with a clear central proposition, structure, and application that reflects sound exegesis of and theological reflection on a biblical text.
Level 3—to be attained by all master's-level students before graduating.	The student is able to write an appropriately researched and documented paper on a biblical and/or theological topic and deliver an oral presentation designed to influence listeners toward change, using audience-focused learning objectives and appropriate methods.
Level 2	The student is able to write an evaluative essay on a biblical and/or theological topic reflecting vocabulary appropriate to the subject and deliver an interesting oral presentation on a biblical and/or theological topic with congruent nonverbal expression.
Level 1—to be attained by all students by the end of their first semester, if not at matriculation.	The student is able to write a cogent essay using correct form, grammar, and spelling and deliver a cogent oral presentation reflecting basic oral communication skills.

B. Disability Accommodation Policy

Dallas Seminary does not discriminate on the basis of disability in the operation of any of its programs and activities. To avoid discrimination, the student is responsible for informing the Coordinator of Services for Students with Disabilities and the course instructor of any disabling condition that will require modifications.

VII. COURSE LECTURES AND ASSIGNMENT SCHEDULE

There are no lectures for this course. Research papers are due according to the assignment schedule in the online course in Canvas.
