

Who We Are:

Region 10 Education Service Center (ESC) is one of 20 regional service centers established by the Texas State Legislature in 1967 for the purpose of providing services to school districts and citizens within our defined geographic region. The special education component of Region 10 ESC provides leadership, training, technical assistance for students with disabilities in accordance with the Texas Education Agency's focus on increasing student achievement. Our team of special education consultants can assist with any disability. Region 10 Education Service Center, located in Richardson, provides staff development, special projects and technical assistance at no cost if you live or work within our service area. We serve the following counties:

Serving: Collin, Dallas, Ellis, Fannin, Grayson, Hunt, Kaufman and Rockwall Counties

PLANNING FOR LIFE AFTER SCHOOL

*Agencies and Service Providers for

Achieving successful post-secondary outcomes is a goal we have for all students. Depending on the disability and the support services required in adult life, successful transition from high school to adult life may require that planning activities begin in elementary school with students exploring their interests and preferences in middle school. Starting the process early prepares students with disabilities the time to think about what they want to do in adult life. High school transition planning includes exploring post-secondary opportunities and employment options. Additionally, transition may include connecting with the adult service agencies that help provide the student with services when he or she graduates or turn 22 years of age.

Beginning no later than the first IEP to be in effect when the eligible student is 14, or younger if the ARD committee thinks it is necessary, the IEP should include a post school vision statement as well as identify the transition services that the district or charter school will provide to support their vision. Please be aware that regardless of the severity of the disability, legal rights will transfer to your child at age 18 unless you pursue legal guardianship.

To further this effort Region 10 personnel provide staff development, training, special projects, and technical assistance to administrators, teachers, transition specialist, parents, and other agencies.

This brochure will provide parents and educators with resources to assist students in their post-secondary dreams of further education or a career.

This brochure is designed to:

- Provide information regarding agencies and service providers.
- Answer questions concerning transition but is of these services.

Planning for Life After School

What Does the Child Centered Legal Framework Say?

Beginning not later than the first Individualized Education Program (IEP) to be in effect when the child is 14, or younger if determined appropriate by the admission, review and dismissal committee (ARD), and updated annually thereafter, the ARD committee must:

Develop appropriate measurable postsecondary goals based upon age appropriate transition assessments related to:

- Training
- Education
- Employment
- Where appropriate, independent living skills; and
- Develop transition services (including courses of study needed) to assist the child in reaching these goals

If the child does not attend the ARD Committee meeting where transition services are discussed, the local education agency must take other steps to ensure the child's preferences and interests are considered.

Beginning not later than 1 year before the child reaches age eighteen (18), the ARD committee must provide a statement that the child has been informed of the child's rights under the IDEA, if any, that will transfer to the child on reaching the age of majority. (Cited from: <http://www.esc18.net/>)

What Does IDEA 2004 Say? (§300.43)

(a) Transition services means a coordinated set of activities for a child with a disability that

(1) Is designed to be within a results-oriented process, that is focused on improving the academic and functional achievement of the child with a disability to facilitate the child's movement from school to post-school activities, including postsecondary education, vocational education, integrated employment (including supported employment), continuing and adult education, adult services, independent living, or community participation;

(2) Is based on the individual child's needs, taking into account the child's strengths, preferences, and interests; and includes;

(i) Instruction;

(ii) Related services;

(iii) Community experiences;

(iv) The development of employment and other post-school adult living objectives; and

(v) If appropriate, acquisition of daily living skills and provision of a functional vocational evaluation.
